Time Unincorporated Volume 3: Writings on Doctor Who the New Series

Featuring editors Graeme Burk and Robert Smith? and contributors to Time Unincorporated

Time Unincorporated Volume 3 is the first major collection of non-fiction writing about Doctor Who the new series ever released.

This diverse collection features writing about all the different facets of Doctor Who since 2005 including the relaunch, how it lives up to the Classic series, the eras of Christopher Eccleston, David Tennant and Matt Smith and the spinoffs Torchwood and The Sarah Jane Adventures. It examines the influence of Russell T Davies and Steven Moffat, the storytelling techniques used by New Who, shipping and the new fan culture, how the new series reflects contemporary concerns and much more!

The 65 essays in this collection feature material from Doctor Who authors including McCoy era script editor Andrew Cartmel; novelists Kate Orman, Lloyd Rose and Steve Lyons and writing by the leading Doctor Who fan writers from around the world. It also features an introduction by new series writer (and World Fantasy Award winner) Robert Shearman.
